Dear Sir or Madam,

I am writing to you from The Architectural Review editorial team to invite all architecture students to enter the Global Architecture Graduate Awards 2014!

The Global Architecture Graduate Awards (GAGAs) celebrate the achievements of the world's finest architecture graduates. The awards seek to identify projects with a strong critical position that advances the role of architecture in an increasingly fractured yet globalised world. With a £5,000 prize fund, this year the awards will expand to become part of our special digital AR Academic Annual, which will feature the winning and shortlisted projects alongside essays and opinion from academe.

To enter the Global Architecture Graduate Awards, students must submit up to five A3 pages of design work online and an accompanying text of up to 300 words elaborating on both the project and its contribution to international architectural discourse. Proposals can be any programme or scale, in any location around the world, and should engage with their context while also being relevant to larger architectural discussions.

Entry Criteria

In order to participate, students must either be currently enrolled or have graduated from architecture school within the last 12 months. There are two categories: undergraduate (eg. Bachelor, RIBA Part One, etc) and postgraduate (eg. Masters, RIBA Part Two, etc). The deadline is Monday the 4th of August, it is free to enter and projects are judged anonymously. A £5,000 prize fund will be awarded among the winners by the international jury and all selected graduates will receive a year's subscription to the AR.

All information on the awards can be found here<<http://www.architectural-review.com/ar-awards/global-architecture-graduate-awards/global-architecture-graduate-awards-2014/>>, including the entry form<<http://www.architectural-review.com/ar-awards/global-architecture-graduate-awards/global-architecture-graduate-awards-2014/enter>> to submit the work, an example submission PDF<<http://www.architectural-review.com/Journals/2014/05/12/k/i/c/GAGA-2014->
